FOREWORD

*"Fond memory paints the scenes of other years,
Green be their memory still."*

We cannot stand forever upon the threshold of life and look forward to a glorious future, for the time must come when we shall be called into the great arena upon which we are now gazing. When we shall have been encompassed by the smoke and the din of the strife, when days of sore temptation and difficulty meet us face to face, then, indeed, will it be as a ray of Orion piercing the darkness of night to turn to those familiar faces upon which we once looked with pleasure, and live over again the days which Time has decreed we shall see no more. For no other purpose have we made this book.

OLANDUS WEST

Olandus West

LANDUS West is one of the prominent business men of Clarksburg. He was born on a farm near McWhorter, Harrison County, West Virginia, November 28, 1871. He is the son of William Marshall West and Hannah A. (Davis) West, natives of the same community, both of whom are now deceased. The father was a farmer and carpenter, and a soldier from 1863-65.

Mr. West was a student at Wesleyan, but not continually, from 1893-96, having spent a part of this time as a teacher. He was a member of the Class of 1897, but left at the winter term to become the principal of a school, intending to enter the university the following year for special work. However, an attack of typhoid at the beginning of the school year, and later a business opening changed his plans. He entered the insurance business in 1898, locating in Clarksburg in 1902 and adding real estate to his office.

Soon after locating in Clarksburg, Mr. West became interested in the development of oil and gas, and from 1905 devoted most of his attention to that industry. He soon was considered one of the successful operators of the state. In 1909 he formed the Vesper Oil & Gas Co. of which he became president and general manager until 1920, when he and his associates sold the corporation. He is also head of several other oil and gas corporations besides being an operator on his own account.

Mr. West is also interested in the coal business and other active enterprises. He is president of the Peacock Coal Company, and vice-president of the Fairmont Big Vein Coal Company, the Clarksburg Trust Company, the Clarksburg Wholesale Company, the Le-Flore Glass Company, the Eagle Convex Glass Specialty Company, and a director in several other corporations.

Mr. West has always taken an active interest in public affairs. He has served as president of the Board of Education of his district, and is now one of the trustees of Wesleyan College, and also chairman of the Alumni Athletic Board. He has served as chairman of the Harrison County Chapter of the American Red Cross; is a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Kiwanis Club, and the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Clarksburg. He is affiliated with the Democratic party and has served as County and City Chairman.

In 1906 Mr. West was united in marriage to Miss Alma McWhorter, daughter of John M. McWhorter, of McWhorter. Mrs. West was also a student at Wesleyan. Mr. and Mrs. West have no children.

Before you hurl those terrible anathemas that are always hurled at editors will you kindly learn the facts, and be sure that you are well informed in your subject. The editor invites and accepts all just criticism.

It is hoped that the owner of this book will find joy and pleasure in looking at the likenesses which appear on its pages. It is hoped, too, that in future years the turning of these pages may prove an exquisite source of pleasure to those who have known and associated with the ones whose pictures appear herein.

It has not been the purpose of the editor to make an extended literary account of every individual and organization appearing in this book. Every college annual is primarily a picture book. If any other characteristic prevails the fundamental purpose of the book has been defeated. The sight of one familiar face carries more information than a whole printed page. For this reason an annual filled with writing would be uninteresting.

An effort was made to get the picture of every student and teacher in college, but failure was the result. The editor has bequeathed to his successors, as their personal property, the things that he has learned about making a yearbook, so that a more successful book is assured for next year. The present policy of giving a book to every student is an excellent one, and the student who goes through a school year without getting a yearbook will have a regret later in life.

Delightful task!

History

"We have fought the good fight, we have kept the faith, we have finished our course."

Of no class could this more truly be said. In our first year in college we fought the good fight, then for two years we kept the faith, and now we are finishing the course.

We entered college in the fall of nineteen hundred nineteen, one hundred sixty-eight bold, bad freshmen. Our first official act was to send a declaration of independence to the upperclassmen, who were trying to subjugate us. This precipitated one of the most whole-hearted battles even seen on the Wesleyan campus. However, time brings great changes, and now we are ardent supporters of freshmen rules.

Under the leadership of such presidents as Kirchner, Thompson, Ross, and O'Brien, we have accomplished much. Among our number we have developed leaders, not only in social, dramatic, literary and religious lines, but we have people with executive ability, and some of the best students in school.

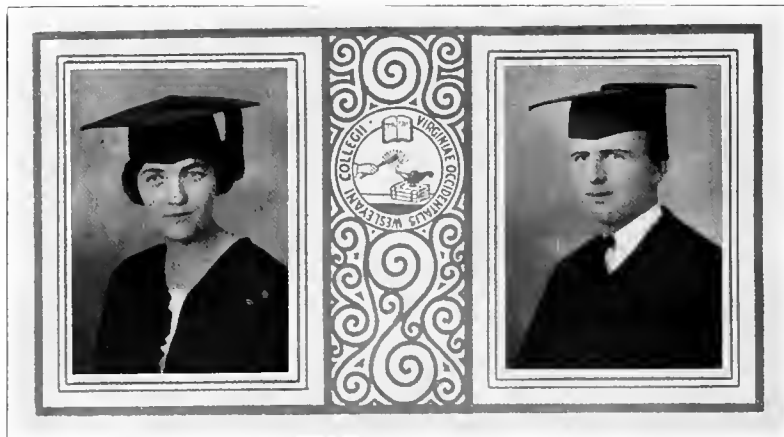

We are noted for having given some of the most unique social affairs ever seen in Wesleyan College. Beginning in our freshman year we had a party at which peanut throwing was the main diversion of the evening. Then later came a party on a sand barge. This excursion was so capably managed that we got home at two in the morning, due to the fact that for several hours the barge was stranded a few miles up the river. We were hosts to the seniors of last year at one of the most elaborate banquets of the year, the only one in fact which was formal.

Much more could be said of the achievements of this illustrious class, but space and time are lacking. We have gone through many vicissitudes and trials together, such as mathematics, chemistry, examinations, chapel, to say nothing of freshman English, a la Neptune.

Now, as we are leaving, we hope we will be missed here on the old campus which we have learned to love so well. Our own feelings are a mixture of regret and expectations, regret for the past and hopes for the future. We have yet to prove our real worth to our Alma Mater and we sincerely hope that in the years to come we will each become a real asset to our school.

"Page" Miss Fitzgerald! This piquant Irish colleen has smiled her way into well deserved popularity on Wesleyan's campus. In spite of conscientious work in Wesleyan Players, Pharos Staff, and Chresto, Bess is never missing where her ready wit and unflinching good nature are needed in a frolic.

GEORGE A. PRIESTER
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; President of Junior Class; Wesleyan Players; Benzene Ring; Pharos Staff; Varsity Club; Chrestomathean Plays, '21-'22; Basketball, '22; Football, '20, '21, '22; Defending Attorney Boys' Court; Treasurer Wesleyan Players.

This versatile young man stops at nothing! He is a painless extractor of money, so he is invaluable as treasurer of Chresto and Wesleyan Players. He has battled his way to glory on the football field and shines brilliantly behind the footlights of Wesleyan's stage.

Junior Class

DANA M. FORINASH
HORNER, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Class Treasurer, '22-'23; MURMURMONTIS Staff; Secretary Benzene Ring, '22; Buckhannon High School, '20; Faculty Wesleyan Academy.

Dana is a quiet sort of a person until you hear him in class. There he shines like an undimmed star and we can only listen in awe.

*"And still we gazed and still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew."*

MILDRED HARNE
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Wesleyan Players; MURMURMONTIS Staff; Secretary of Junior Class; Smithsburg High School, Maryland.

This spirituelle maiden is not quite so spiritual as she looks. A lively sense of humor lurks in the blue of her seraphic eyes, and her numerous campus activities keep her busy. Nevertheless she has time enough to be studious and well read ("Red").

Junior Class

BRADLEY ARNETT
EAST CLARKSBURG, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Class President, '20; Football, '21; Baseball, '22.

A golden tenor voice, a pillar of strength on the baseball diamond, unlimited capability in the gym kitchen and an extra share of Romeo-Moonlight-Young Love atmosphere. All added together make up one Bradley Arnett, a noted campus figure.

GLADYS WARDEN BEDDOW
MANNINGTON, W. VA.

Y. W. C. A.; Excelsior; Vice-President Girls' Athletic Association, '22-'23; Secretary P. K. C., '21-'22; Mannington High School.

The Juniors' Amazon! This clear-eyed young lady with the Titian locks carries youth in her hands like a gift. With these hands she also manages to do plenty of active work in Y. W. and to assist Eva Mae in all available mischief in the Agnes Howard Hall.

Junior Class

MARY LEON RODGERS
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Y. W. C. A.; Chrestomathean.

She of the snapping eyes that shed sweet smiles! There is such a surprising amount of energy and dignity wrapt in one small girl, she was born to lead—and she has not failed in her mission.

DENNIS W. TENNEY
TEN MILE, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Wesleyan Debating Club; Intercollegiate Debating Club; Ministerial Association; Winner Aspioll Cup for Oratory; Football, '21.

Here verily is a man whom the world shall bow before, and bow again. Always he has taken the hardest courses he could find, while at the same time he worked long, tedious hours without the class room. We have actually heard his professors pause in their busy lives to praise him, with tributes for his brain and never tiring energy, his sterling worth and true-blueness. His fellow students will always remember him as an inspiration.

Junior Class

ESTHER LOUISE WILLIAMS
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Wesleyan Players; Webster Debating Club; Expression Senior, '22; MURMURMONTIS Staff, '23; G. A. A.; Standard Normal Course; Buckhannon High School, '20.

She doesn't look green, this busy student of Dramatics, but one invariably associates the drama of her future life in terms of "Green." Esther has distinguished herself in historic circles and is a pillar of the Chresto Society and member of the "Flighty Four." She is one of those girls who does everything and does everything well.

RUHL CUSTER
GRAFTON, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Benzene Ring; Webster Debating Club; Class President, '21-'22.

The most distinguishing mark of this youth from West Virginia's "Smoky" City is the length of his eyelashes. Have you ever heard the tales he tells about the time when he was a Mounted Policeman? This strong, silent man of the open belongs to the Benzene Ring, too.

Junior Class

WILLIAM DUNN
BECKLEY, W. VA.

Varsity Club; Varsity Baseball, '20, '21, '22.

Bill—and what he has “dunn” on the diamond—he has surely “dunn” his full share. He is a good mixer, and when he starts something he sticks to it till the end, and that is truly a mark of genius.

VIRGINIA WILLIAMSON
WILKINSBURG, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; Excelsior; Girls' Athletic Association.

Out of Pittsburgh came this maiden, she who is so sweet and radiant. She is unusually magnetic, calling hearts like the Loreili, never to leave her once they have seen her. “Dimmy” has a personality one remembers.

Junior Class

VERNA VIRGINIA VAN HORN
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; Normal Course, '22; Girls' Glee Club, '23; Buckhannon High School, '20.

Verna not only absorbs knowledge in Wesleyan, but dispenses it to young America from a position as teacher of fifth grade. In addition to her many duties she is superintendent of a "Ward," and active member of the "Flighty Four," and holds down a corner of the Glee Club.

JOHN E. HANIFAN
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Ministerial Association; Masonic Club; Webster Debating Club.

This gentleman is subject to the dictation of a wife and the professors. We often wonder how he manages it so well, for we have heard that "no man can serve two masters."

Wed. 1925

This mild young lady represents half of one of the most powerful combinations on the campus. In short, she is Bradley's inspiration, and a splendid student in the classroom.

JOHN J. KNIGHT
GRAFTON, W. VA.

Varsity Club; Football, '20, '21, '22; Basketball, '21, '22, '23; Baseball, '21, '22; Chrestomathean.

Forsooth, a marvel! Football, basketball, baseball, shiniog in all three, and yet one of the most tireless and conscientious students in college. The professors respect him, all of us admire him, he's got the spirit and the pep. His genius "Burns" though his inspiration is away. More power to John—and yet more.

Music has a sweet language of its own, it is said, but Aileen speaks in more tongues than one. This young lady converses with equal ease in French, Latin, or music and these are not all her accomplishments.

GEORGE B. PRUNTY
FOLSOM, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean.

George is one of those quiet persons who you never know is around until an emergency arises, and then he is there, helpful and steady, but with a modest quietness. An earnest and conscientious fellow. He will make his mark in the world, we predict.

Junior Class

HELEN HOWARD
COWEN, W. VA.

Y. W. C. A.; Excelsior.

There is something dynamic about this girl. You have only to hear her laugh or to watch her tackle an argument with a professor to gauge her pep. Good humor and pep are her most outstanding characteristics, and to those of us who know her best, nobility of soul stands out as well.

BYRNE MURPHY
CLAY, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Chrestomathean; Student Assistant Manager of Football; Clay County High School, '19.

Big of mind, heart, and body is this optimistic Irishman. He is athletically inclined and has never met a lesson which he could not overcome. There will always remain a warm spot in our hearts for him.

VEVA ROSALIND KARICKHOFF

A man of learning and of books. "Pat" is a tireless worker in Y. M. C. A. and a burner of the midnight oil. The day, as yet, has never dawned that found "Pat" unprepared for his classes. He has worked valiantly in all student activities, and in addition, has managed the Meade Street Beanery.

Junior Class

MARGARET VIRGINIA MARTIN
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

You like her—everyone does. Have you seen her eyes? Will you ever forget their beauty? No one will. Her accomplishments are three: she drives far and furiously, she teaches many little hopefuls in school, and she charms Richards. It is enough!

HALE A. PAULEY
GLENN WHITE, W. VA.

Chrestomathean; President Varsity Club, '22, '23; Treasurer Varsity Club, '21-'22; Wesleyan Players; Vice-President Wesleyan Masonic Club, '22-'23; Football, '19, '20, '22; Octagon; Webster Debating Club.

"Men of six feet seven, with backs from Atlas and hearts from Heaven"—and there you have Hale summed up in two lines! But two lines could never contain all of Hale, all his cheer and dependability. He has proven a mighty bulwark of strength on the football team for "lo these many years," and no less has he nobly supported Wesleyan Players, The Varsity Club, The Masonic Club, and Chresto. He is truly invaluable.

Junior Class

EVA McVANEY
BUCKHANNON, W. VA.

Chrestomathean.

A girl mathematical shark! A rare thing, indeed, but Eva is a lover of this deep and dark subject. And this is not the least of her attractions, for she is a graduate of Wesleyan's School of Expression, and showed rare talent in her performance of Tarkington's "Mister Antonio" last June.

HENRY L. ROHRBROUGH
CAMDEN, W. VA.

Varsity Football, '19, '20, '22.

"The Happy Giant" is a good title for this curly headed athlete. A laugh under the gray of his eyes; his big form is strewn with various gold basketballs and footballs which he has won on Wesleyan athletic fields.

Y. W. C. A.; Excelsior; Girls' Athletic Association; Glee Club, '21, '22, '23; Secretary-Treasurer Glee Club, '22; MURMURMONTIS Staff; Mannington High School, '20.

This little Dresden China shepherdess has a voice which Orpheus himself might envy, and which has served her Alma Mater well in the Glee Club for three years. Her little hands have played sad havoc among the masculine hearts of Wesleyan, and she has ably assisted Gladys in all the schemes which that young lady has concocted.

CURTIS PRICE
CHARLESTON, W. VA.

Y. M. C. A.; Excelsior; Webster Debating Club; Benzene Ring.

The Philander (consult Webster's Unabridged) of the Junior Class! Wherever you find a group of ladies, Curtis is usually the center of attraction. A great favorite at the Ladies' Hall.

That man in double harness who combines the arts of student, orator, forester, and actor—oh, superbly an actor—oh, powerfully an orator—efficiently a "Forester"—ably a student. In the role of inimitable husband we know he is acquitting himself well.

JANETTE SAUNDERS
 LAKEWOOD, OHIO

Y. W. C. A.; Excelsior; Girls' Athletic Association; P. K. C.; East Orange High School, '18.

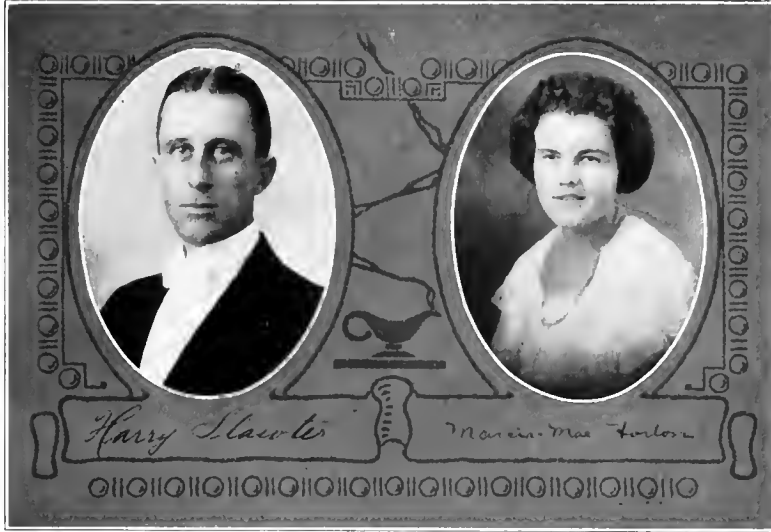

Y. W. C. A.; Chrestomathean.

"Can anything dull come out of New Jersey?" It seems not. And this scintillating young lady has right nobly upheld the high standard of her state. Although somewhat annoyed by a healthy case of whooping cough, at the first of the New Year, Helen has found time to take an active part in Y. W. C. A. and the affairs at the hall. She is one of those persons who can "study French and Greek and Latin, and not acquire as well a priggish mien," and her cleverness is as winsome and gay as it is deep.

The girl with the inimitable halo of gold hair, the girl who charms with her "difference." Such mystery from Lakewood, Ohio, such sweetness, and truly such a mind!

Prophecy

In giving this prophecy I cannot deal with each individual, but must concern myself only with representatives from the different types of students in our undaunted, untarnished, conspicuous, and valiant class.

One time when I was in a somnambulistic state I saw the students of the Class of '26 engaged in their professions and doing the things which will employ their time in 1938.

At Red Rock, West Virginia, I saw a famous Preachers' Club. The most eminent members enrolled were the Rev. Nicholas Raschella, Bishop Duke Eastman, and Dr. Happy Clawson. Next I saw in the far distant city of San Francisco an electric sign in large letters which contained the names of many Wesleyan students. Prima Donna Hazel Cline, Mademoiselle Esther Sigafoose, and Seniorita Edna Walters were featured prominently in the week's program. Before my eyes next came the great city of Paris, where I found at the head of the gamblers' union, George Bayer and Dewey Clark. After this I saw in a quiet secluded spot near Mountain Grove a large homey looking building bearing the sign, "Old Maids' Glory." Among the inmates were Ethel Zickefoose, Louise Thomas, Edna Miller and Agnes Crabtree. Finally, I was taken by the god of sleep to the sunny South where on Miami beach strolled the professional coquettes. The most celebrated among them being Roxie Ward and Merrie Swisher. Corresponding to this type of femininity I saw the following no less celebrated members from the masculine side of our class: Eddie Hall, Johnny McGraw, "Wally" Grant and Ira Loving.

Gradually these figures faded and I awoke to find myself in a very cramped and uncomfortable position.

CLASS PROPHET.

Book Three
Organizations

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. stands for the highest and best things to be found in Wesleyan. No higher type of manhood exists than that found in the Y. M. C. A. The Thursday evening meetings are both entertaining and inspirational. The genuine fellowship which exists in these meetings is one of the most dearly cherished remembrances to the alumni who were active members of the organization. Students who go through college without having been regular attendants of the Y. M. C. A. have missed a valuable part of the preparation for a successful life's work.

Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course

It is the aim of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course Committee to run each season a type of program that is a little better, a little more instructive, and at the same time a little more entertaining than that of the previous season. We feel that we have fulfilled our pledge in offering the following course for the season of 1923-24:

- STEPHEN LEACOCK Humorist
- CLEVELAND SYMPHONIC QUINTEI
- TOM SKEYHILL Lecturer
- FRANCIS JOYNER Entertainer
- ROBERT PARKER MILES Lecturer
- MARY ADEL HAYS OPERA SINGERS

PURPOSES

- To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
- To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.
- To promote their growth in Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible.
- To influence them to devote themselves in united efforts with all Christians, to make the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extend the kingdom of God throughout the world.

Chrestomathean Literary Society

The year 1922-23 for Chrestomathean Literary Society has been one of the most successful in the annals of her history. We are justly proud of the wide range of talent manifested by both old and new members. The usual programs of music, orations, debates, readings, and the traditional Plain Dealer were varied by special evenings such as Colonial Days, Indian Land, The Fatal Necklace, Life's Pathway, and February-Friends. Other bright spots in the year were the reception, the banquet, and the annual play, "The Tailor-Made Man." Among the pleasant features has been the cordial fellowship enjoyed by the members of the society.

Excelsior Literary Society

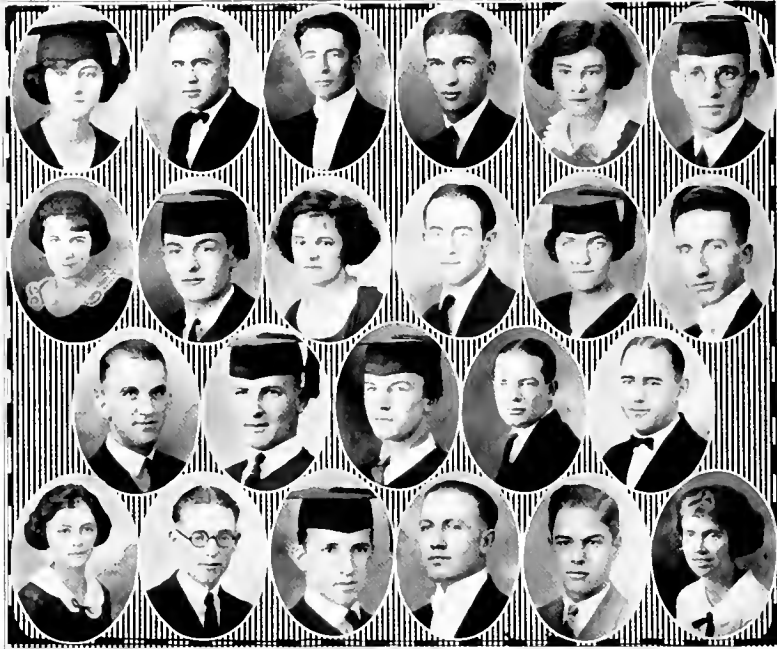

As the tide of life at Wesleyan ebbs and flows, we find Excelsior Literary Society still one of the main powers that form the nucleus of Wesleyan spirit and ideals. We meet every Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock for one hour, and when we leave the Society Hall it is with a strengthened Wesleyan feeling and interest.

In the dramatic history of Wesleyan College Excelsior possesses a record that has not been eclipsed. The two Excelsior plays, the incomparable "Penrod" and "Clarence" stand as epochs yet to be approached.

In the history of Webster Debating Club the school year of 1922-23 has been one of no slight achievements. Very interesting programs have been given, and a marked interest in the value of oratorical attainments has been demonstrated.

The fact that seven of the twelve members of the men's Inter-Collegiate Debating Club came from Webster is sufficient proof that the Webster Debating Club is doing her bit for Wesleyan in this field. The seven notables are Morris L. Husted, Carl W. Wellon, John E. Hanifan, Denton M. Harold, Clyde S. Swiger, Thomas D. Heming, and John Wallace Grant. The last three of this group were gleaned from the Freshman Class of this year, and we believe that they will attain many laurels for Wesleyan College and Webster Debating Club in the years to come.

WESLEYAN MASONIC CLUB

Wesleyan Masonic Club

THE Wesleyan Masonic Club was organized in Wesleyan College in 1920 for the purpose of bringing into closer fellowship the Masonic brethren who are associated with Wesleyan College, and who, true to the Masonic ideal, are here for the purpose of better preparing ourselves for traveling in that far and distant country, always working according to the designs which have been laid down to us from time immemorial.

Any Master Mason who is a member of a regular Masonic lodge, and is a student, graduate, or otherwise connected with the college, is eligible for membership.

Be a friend. You don't need money;
Just a disposition sunny;
Just the wish to help another
Get along some way or other;
Just a kindly hand extended
Out to one who's unhefriended;
Just the will to give or lend,
This will make you someone's friend.

Be a friend. You don't need glory.
Friendship is a simple story.
Pass by trifling errors blindly,
Gaze on honest effort kindly,
Cheer the youth who's bravely trying,
Pity him who's sadly sighing;
Just a little labor spend
On the duties of a friend.

With the establishment of the Pharos on a sound financial basis, a new era has opened in Wesleyan newspaperdom.

The Pharos has extended its scope to include all of Wesleyan, past and present, and with the hearty co-operation of the faculty, we have made our best effort to record the life and activities of the college and its people.

We have tried to show our present students what the college has done for them, and to inculcate a love for old Wesleyan that will live forever. We have tried to bring back to our former students old memories that would fan into flames their forgotten ardor for Alma Mater; and lastly, we have tried to make Wesleyan a "better place in which to live."

Time alone can tell what we have accomplished. We shall feel, however, that our efforts have been well rewarded if we have simply perpetuated the old Wesleyan spirit that means so much to us all.

BENZENE RING

Benzene Ring

THE Department of Physical Science of West Virginia Wesleyan College has more than doubled during the last four years. The Benzene Ring is, therefore, a natural outgrowth of the growth of this department. The ring was organized in the spring of 1920 for the purpose of promoting interest in the physical sciences. All students in advanced science at Wesleyan College are eligible for membership. It is significant to note that nearly every eligible student has become a member.

Due to the loss, by graduation, of many of the "old timers" last spring, it was feared that the ring could not hold together this year. It did get a late start, but with a number of new members, is doing its best to make up for lost time. The first semester's work consisted entirely of business sessions and initiations, but the second semester's program includes trips to industrial plants and lectures from outside the college. Lectures are open to all students, so that the whole school may share the benefit.

One of the ring's greatest achievements is the establishment of a science library. The library, although small, is composed of books of every practical value. Students find them invaluable for reference work.

The Benzene Ring is a comparatively new organization. All that it has achieved has been done since the spring of 1920. But it is not satisfied with things as they are. It has come to stay. It will be a permanent organization at Wesleyan, and will do its part in helping to raise the standards of scholarship of the institution.

WESLEYAN PLAYERS

Wesleyan Players

WHILE dramatic periodicals all over the country are announcing the organization of Play Makers' Clubs in the foremost colleges and universities of America, West Virginia Wesleyan is finding a place beside the universities of North Carolina, Dakota, and other schools leading in the movement for the presentation of finished and artistic amateur plays.

Wesleyan's dramatic club, "The Wesleyan Players," was organized less than a year ago. The club has a membership of seventeen persons. The meetings are bi-weekly, and at each meeting a modern play is reviewed and discussed, criticisms from the theater magazine and the drama are read and reports are given as to the interests and progress of other collegiate dramatic clubs.

The players have just completed plans for the opening of a children's theater at the college. A play for children will be presented each month with a story-teller to entertain the youngsters between acts. The play presented in February was "The Silver Thread," by Constance MacKay. The players will play the parts, build the scenery and fashion the costumes for these plays.

It is the purpose of the club to bring a reader or lecturer to Buckhannon every year. Walter Bradley Tripp of Emerson College, Boston, has been secured for this year.

The following plays have been presented by the players:

- The Piper Josephine Preston Peabody
- The Trysting Place Booth Tarkington
- The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife Anatole France

The spring production will be "The Admirable Crichton," by Barrie.

All plays are under the personal direction of Miss Mildred Little, head of the dramatic department.

Wesleyan Ministerial Association

HERE are several clubs and various organizations in Wesleyan, each, we believe, filling a worthy place in the life of the college. It is a good thing that these organizations exist for they are signs of progress and efficiency. Among these is the Ministerial Association, a club whose membership is composed of students who have elected to spend their lives in the Christian Ministry. The association does not stand for exclusiveness, but claims as its right for existence to be a helping hand and an asset in the college life of its members.

The association makes no claim to having an elaborate program. However, there is real constructive work and much good being done within the organization, and this will, in turn, affect the lives which our members touch in their career. On March 9, 1923, a very helpful paper was read in our meeting by Professor Chrisman. His subject was, "The Vernacular of the Pulpit." It is the plan of the program committee to provide a similar hour's program once a month.

The principal reason why the Association does not follow out an intensive organization program is that its members are officers and active members of other helpful associations of the college, such as the Y. M. C. A., the literary societies, the Masonic Club, etc. These, with others, are splendid result-bringing institutions and the Ministerial Association does not wish to add to its members any extra obligations by having too much to do in the club itself. We desire to co-operate with the other organizations which hold to those high standards that tend to elevate and educate in the fourfold life—Spirit, Mind, Body, Society.

This association purposes to stand by and for anything in the college life that is wholesome and square. We are ready to co-operate with faculty and the rest of the student body in such ways that may count for the best interests of all. We would serve where service is most needed, and every way, all the time do our bit as men and loyal students of Wesleyan College.

FOOTBALL

Football Resume, 1922

WHEN R. A. "Bob" Higgins, head coach of football at Wesleyan, opened training camp on August 30th the essence of his program was, "Building for the Future." Assisted by Coach K. M. Ross, and Athletic Director Carl Miller, a squad of seventy-eight candidates were driven at a gruelling pace for two weeks in selecting the timber for what was to become the 1922 team.

Coach Higgins surprised his most ardent admirers by turning out in just thirty days, from a squad composed largely of inexperienced players, a team that held West Virginia University to a 20-3 score in the opening game, played at Fairmont on September 30th. This was a notable achievement when it is taken into consideration that West Virginia was undefeated last season. Three weeks later another encouraging surprise was ushered in when Wesleyan held Washington and Jefferson to a 14-0 score in the game played at Washington, Pa. These games were the only ones lost by Wesleyan in the ten games played; a most encouraging record for what might well be termed a freshman team.

Following the Washington and Jefferson defeat, Wesleyan journeyed to Huntington, and there won from Marshall College 48-21. The next week at Pittsburgh, Wesleyan defeated Duquesne University 27-0. Returning home for the Armistice Day game, Wesleyan prepared for what many believed was the outstanding victory of the season. The Third Army Corps football eleven of Baltimore conquered the University of Pennsylvania one week before Armistice Day, but at Clarksburg, lost to Wesleyan 10-6. On the following Saturday, November 18th, Morris-Harvey College was played in Charleston. Wesleyan won 21-6 after an easy game, made difficult by the sea of mud which covered Laidley Field, where the game was played. Next, Grove City was defeated 14-9 in the home-coming game played on College Field, in a game played in the snow, during a biting western blizzard.

The final star for the Wesleyan gridiron crown was a blazing one. Bethany College, after defeating Rutgers and Butler, was met and defeated 3-2 in a game played at Clarksburg, December 2nd, which will go down in history as one of the closest scores on record, and as one of the hardest fought football battles ever waged in West Virginia.

Coach Higgins held to his "Building for the Future" program throughout the season, and worked unceasingly without regard to games to build a permanent football system at Wesleyan. That his first-season efforts were crowned with success is plainly manifest. Next September the work will be taken up where it was left on December 2nd. The continual building, steady progressive plan of Coach Higgins will not be without its just fruits at the end of the 1923 season.

Wesleyan's record for the 1922 season follows:

Wesleyan	3;	West Virginia	20
Wesleyan	28;	Davis and Elkins	0

Wesleyan Basketball

THE proverbial state basketball championship which has rested quietly at Wesleyan since first originated in this state is gone. West Virginia University captured the state pennant by virtue of two victories over Wesleyan during the past season, and Wesleyan basketball enthusiasts now have something to look forward to winning anew.

The basketball season served as did the football season. The underlying motive through the season was to build for the future. Coach Ross entered upon the season with a veteran team, and with a squad of excellent floor material. His system was readily taken up by the youngsters on the squad, but the veterans had difficulty in shifting their style of play in some instances. Yet on the whole the two elements were blended together and save the defeats suffered at the hands of State, the season ended a success.

Athletic Director Miller found his schedule for 1923 partly arranged when he came to Wesleyan last June. Around these games he arranged the best card possible, but was handicapped in arranging the season in such a way that Wesleyan could have played the game away from home under less strenuous circumstances, because of the earlier arrangements.

The record of the team speaks for itself, a record of which Wesleyan students and Wesleyan floor enthusiasts are justly proud.

Wesleyan Girls State Champions

FOR the first time in the history of Wesleyan Girls' Basketball the Orange and Black claims the state collegiate girls' title. By defeating every collegiate team in the state played, by decisive scores, Coach Nason's team has won an undisputed claim to the girls' pennant.

The work of Amelia Flanigan has been one of the outstanding features of the girls' season. "Pitcher" tossed eleven field goals against Fairmont Normal which is a record within itself. Wesleyan defeated West Liberty Normal, Davis & Elkins, and Fairmont Normal by decisive scores after Salem had been eliminated by both Davis & Elkins and Fairmont Normal.

Great interest in the girls' game has marked the entire season on the part of the students, and the team, coached by Miss Nason, head of the department of Physical Education for Women, gave a good account of itself, repaying the students handsomely in every game played for their interest.

The team will practically be intact for next year. Jess Furr will be lost by graduation, and will leave a post at guard that will be hard to fill. Margaret Kyle will also be lost by graduation. Aside from these two losses from the personnel of the team Coach Nason may well look forward to a big basketball year in 1924. It has been largely due to her efforts that girls' basketball has again climbed back as one of the leading sports at West Virginia Wesleyan. The record for the year is one of which champions may well be proud, and one which the entire school reads with a spirit of elation.

At the close of the season letters were awarded, indicative of the skill and efficiency attained by each individual player. The list of the players who received this honor is as follows:

AMELIA FLANIGAN
ETHEL ZICKEFOOSE
JESS FURR

RUTH JOHNSON

The 1923 Tournament

The Tenth Annual West Virginia High School Basketball Tournament, held at Wesleyan College March 15, 16, 17, 1923, proved to be the greatest athletic event ever staged in the state. With sixty-one teams entered, ten cheering delegations, and the double court system, this year's tournament will go down in athletic history as the outstanding event of the year.

In the tournament this year many "dark horses" appeared. Parkersburg and Follansbee, two teams not rated as championship teams, displayed basketball skill of real championship caliber, and it was with no regret to the athletic authorities of the state that these teams were the "State Champions" and "Runners Up," respectively, in Division A. To Keyser and West Monongah go the honors of "Champions" and "Runners Up" in Division B.

The tournament was planned and directed by Arthur V. G. Upton, a senior of Wesleyan College, whose executive ability cannot be questioned. He was ably assisted by a large percentage of the student body whose organized effort helped to make this classic event a success.

The tenth annual tournament was a success. There is no cloud on the horizon to darken the future of the tournament at Wesleyan. May we all work together to keep the tournament on this high plane, and develop throughout West Virginia the spirit of good sportsmanship, fair play, and added interest in the field of high school and collegiate athletics.

Varsity Club

Organized in 1920 the Wesleyan Varsity Club has grown until today it is the largest organization of its kind in West Virginia. The membership is made up of students and former students at Wesleyan who have earned the varsity "W" in one of the recognized branches of sports.

The first banquet held by the club during the State High School Tournament in 1922 was a great success and brought together the largest group of Wesleyan letter men that have ever assembled. Coaches of the high school teams from all over the state were guests of the club at this event, as well as newspapermen representing the state and tri-state press.

Because of the interest in scholastic athletics the Varsity Club offers each year a trophy to the winners in the Class B division. Jane Lew High School won the first trophy.

The Wesleyan Varsity stands for clean sports, and governs the issuing and wearing of varsity trophies, at the same time keeping alive the athletic traditions which have been established and treasured by Wesleyan athletes in the years which have past.

Wesleyan's Athletic Outlook

THE outlook for athletics at West Virginia Wesleyan is highly encouraging from the most conservative point of view. The athletic system is being built up on a solid foundation, and is backed by the co-operation of the alumni and the college. The first year under the control of the Alumni Board athletics at Wesleyan have rapidly approached their former prominence in the tri-state collegiate district, and all indications point out that the trend at this time is in the right direction.

With an inexperienced but willing squad of football players, Coaches Higgins and Ross started in the 1922 football season. After a reverse at the outset the team began playing together under careful coaching, and of the ten games played during the season lost but two, these two being lost to West Virginia University, and to Washington & Jefferson. But few are lost to the team for next year through graduation. Nearly the whole squad have from two to three years yet to play for Wesleyan. The outlook speaks for itself, and could not be made more promising by verbal coloring.

Coach Ross is building baseball and spring sports along the same general plan that crowned the football season. The very best teams possible are being built now, but the future is not being sacrificed for the present. Instead the essence of the plan is to make the present as good as possible and build for the future. This plan built into a system insures ultimate success, and lasting success.

Within another year it is planned to have all sports that have ever been played at Wesleyan, revived. When the present system gets the fundamentals correctly built accomplishments must follow, one after the other, which will build not only present sports but make room for others. It has never been nor is it now the idea to make Wesleyan a purely athletic school. The idea is to make Wesleyan athletics approach as nearly as possible the same high plane and the same high standard that mark other lines of activity at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

The Professor: "Well, I'm sorry."

Bummy: "Daisy Watkins kept me awake last night until nearly 2 o'clock."

The Professor: "Does Mr. Luke come to see you very often?"

Bummy: "Not as often as I would like."

The Professor (feeling encouraged): "Well, if he should give you up I should like to have the next chance."

Bummy (silent). Exit the Professor.

Scene II: Same.

Bummy: "Out of a school of two hundred girls, why do they pick on me?"

An April Lyric

April's madcap laughter
Thrills the hills again.
What sweetness in her laughter!
What sweetness—and what pain!
April's face is petal-sweet,
But I must hide my eyes;

Greening meadows hurt me,
And tinted, mackerel skies,
Some day Life will teach me
To face beauty and stay cold.
Teach all the ways of wisdom,
—I shan't care; being old!

LOIS LATHAM.

From the Observation and Experience of the Editor

(Selected)

There are two kinds of people on earth today,
Just two kinds of people, no more, I say.
Not the saint and the sinner, for 'tis well understood
The good are half bad and the bad are half good;
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth
You must first know the state of his conscience and health;
Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man;
Not the happy and sad, for the swift-flying years
Bring each man his laughter, each man his tears.
No, the two kinds of people on earth I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Where'er you go, you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes;
And, oddly enough, you will find, too, I ween,
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In what class are you? Are you easing the load
Of over-taxed litters who toil down the road?
Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

A Sophomore Soliloquy

Tell me not in mournful numbers
College is but waste of steam,
For although we make some blunders
College men have got the "bean."

All enjoyment and not sorrow
Is the student's life today.
Work put off until tomorrow
Gives new life and time to play.

Art is long, science tedious
And our hearts though brave and stout
Like unmuffled Fords are beatin'
When th' exam reports come out.

Lives of graduates all remind us
We can throw away our time
And some day can leave behind us
College life, the all sublime.

To the Sun Dial

Oh, guardian of the years gone by,
You've watched from out your place
The passing seasons come and go,
With never-changing face,
Except for marks which Time has made,
Or youth of other day
Have traced upon your ancient face
In merry, sportive way.

They, too, have wandered in this spot,
Have trod these same old halls;
Have drawn from Learning's endless store,
Within these same dear walls;
Yet, oh, the names of most of these
We know not; they are gone;
They studied here, and laughed, and sang,
They wrote and then passed on.

Oh, you could tell full many a tale
Of hopes, and dreams, and fears,
Of thoughts forgotten long ago,
Of happiness and tears.
Yet you are silent, guarding well
Your secrets of the past;
We hear a softly murmurous sound;
Oh, will you speak at last?

But no, 'tis but the rustling breeze,
Our fancy serves us ill;
Since naught else stirs within the spot,
And you are silent still.
Is this the meaning, watchman old,
That you, when we are gone,
Will guard our secrets; that we, too,
Must write, and then pass on?

MARY E. SUMNER.

Finding Dad

DICK SANFER sat with an open letter in one hand, while in the other he held a check. His eyes lingered on the few penciled words: "I had saved this for some special plans, but I guess you need it more, my boy." He knew what his father meant by the "Special Plans." He knew of the class reunion to be held next week, the reunion of his father's class. He knew of the plans his father had made for attending it, and he did not need the casual statement at the end of the letter—that he guessed he wouldn't come to the reunion this year as it was a busy time on the farm, and he couldn't "very well get away"—to tell him why these plans were changed. He knew also that not all the farm work in the United States could have kept his father from this reunion of the twenty-fifth year after graduation; this reunion which he had heard his father say so many times was to be a special meeting; when every member of the class, who was still living, was to be present. No, it had been his plea for money, coming just at the hardest time for farmers, which had changed his father's plans; but dear old dad would never tell him that.

Well, he needed the money; in fact he MUST have it. There was the new suit for commencement; and there were the other expenses necessary if he was to take the trip just after commencement. And everybody said he must not miss that trip. It would be so educational and would mean so much to him; and it was an unusual opportunity, to go with the professor. After all, dad wouldn't mind. He was accustomed to missing reunions by this time, for Dick could not remember his ever having attended one.

And then, in the heat of that June day, Dick fell asleep. He seemed to see a class seated around a banquet table. Somehow, he knew that it was his class, although the members had grown older and were now men and women of the world. But he looked in vain for himself, and he heard someone saying: "Where's Dick? The only one who is absent from our class; and we were all to be here on this twenty-fifth anniversary of our graduation"!

He awoke with a start. Surely he could only have been asleep for a few minutes; but that sharp anguish and aching pain at being "left out," at having the class meet and him not there, lingered with him. Could his father care that much? Did he, too, want to be "one of the bunch"? His glance fell on the check which had fallen from his fingers, and which seemed, to his startled gaze, to be burning a hole through the carpet.

He sprang to his feet, seized the scrap of paper and tore it into shreds. Without stopping for his cap, he rushed to the telegraph office and sent a telegram, saying: "Trip impossible. Don't need check, so have destroyed it. Use money to come to reunion. Let nothing prevent." Then, with slower steps, he made his way to the professor's home, and told him that he regretted it very much, but it would be utterly impossible for him to accompany him that summer, and that John Harper was anxious for the opportunity. Dick did not regret his action in the least, in the days that followed, for he had only to recall the vacant chair in his dream in order to banish all thought of regret; but there was a lingering bit of sadness in his heart at the thought of what he had lost.

A week later Dick was walking across the college campus, when he saw a strange procession coming toward him. Gray-haired men they were, some old and bent, some middle-aged and straight, but all past their youthful days; and yet, they were singing a rollicking old college song and laughing as gayly as any boys. In the very center of the group, the life of the entire party, was—his father—but a father he had never known; a strangely young father, the youngest in appearance of all the group, and the gayest. That was the governor of the state with his arm linked through Dad's, and familiarly calling him "Hal." And Dad—why Dad—he was proud of Dad! Why hadn't he ever known he was like that? And suddenly the bit of sadness in his heart was changed to a tremendous, overwhelming gladness. What did the losing of a trip matter when by that loss one discovered that he had such a wonderful father; gay, boyish, happy, and as young in spirit as he himself was young in years! What did anything matter? For Dick had found Dad.

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

The mission of all advertising illustrations is to produce sales and the growth of this firm has been measured by the success its customers have had in obtaining new business thru using "J&O picture salesmen."

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere.

SERVICE TO MANKIND

The most lasting and the broadest success of any institution must be based upon service to mankind.

There is no field in which greater service is rendered to humanity than in the collection, preparation and distribution of Medicinal Preparations for the cure of the sick and the relief of the suffering.

This service has been rendered adequately, efficiently and in a steadily growing volume by this store for more than twenty years; not only to the medical profession and their patients in this city and community, but throughout this and into the adjoining states.

The large number of physicians throughout this state who look to this store as their source of supply is an indication of the kind of service that we render to mankind.

Have you thought about Life Insurance as a life profession? There is no established business or profession where so little cash capital is required, and where HARD WORK represents such a large proportion of the requirements for success.

The NORTHWESTERN AGENCY in West Virginia is a young man's organization. It has an unusually large proportion of college-trained men in its ranks.

This AGENCY is known throughout the United States for the number of young men having special scholastic training for Life Insurance work which it has and for the rapid advancement which they are making.

Are you interested in getting into a profession which offers opportunity limited only by your energy and ability, and connecting yourself with a progressive, aggressive organization?

¶ More than ninety universities, colleges and schools of the South favored us with their Annual printing contracts for the year 1923.

¶ This phenomenal record is the natural result of the high quality of workmanship displayed in all our publications, coupled with the very complete service rendered the Staff.

¶ From the beginning to the end we are your counselor and adviser in the financing, collecting, and editing of your book.

¶ Surely if "Experience is the best teacher," as an old maxim says, then our service must be supreme. Decide right now to know more about our work and service. Simply write for our proposition.

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

The mission of all advertising illustrations is to produce sales and the growth of this firm has been measured by the success its customers have had in obtaining new business thru using "J&O picture salesmen."

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere.

The initials of a friend

You will find these letters on many tools by which electricity works. They are on great generators used by electric light and power companies; and on lamps that light millions of homes.

They are on big motors that pull railway trains; and on tiny motors that make hard housework easy.

By such tools electricity dispels the dark and lifts heavy burdens from human shoulders. Hence the letters G-E are more than a trademark. They are an emblem of service—the initials of a friend.
